

Lightscape XI: Gathering - Carol Adams, Peninsula, OH

Medium - Fabric, paint and aluminum tubing

$13,000.00

sculpture 1

Adams' sculptures mix art and technology. Her flowing, large-scale natural shapes are constructed with fabric and industrial aluminum tubing. The resulting sculpture connects the natural with the man-made.

The artist has created an enormous surrounding environment by using big, translucent shapes. As you move around the large-scale shapes, can you imagine being in a different world? Do you feel as if you are "in the art" rather than just looking at it from the outside

Is there another piece in the Sculpture Garden that uses metal to show a larger than life image?
